

令和2年度入学者選抜学力検査問題 前期日程

英語 正解・解答例

I

Q1(A)

They are located near elementary and junior high schools.

Q1(B)

A western appearance.

Q1(C)

Learning through doing, applying, analysis, and critical thinking.

Q1(D)

Traditionalists or school teachers who are comfortable with the present situation.

Q2

(E) 1

(F) 4

(G) 3

(H) 4

Q3

I think that Japan should become bilingual because it would help Japanese people working in international business. This could improve the shrinking domestic economy which is being caused by the low birthrate. (32 words)

II

Q1(A)

It is how to cool buildings without using much energy.

Q1(B)

Fungus-growing termite nests have a complex system of tunnels and openings, but those of non-fungus-growing termites appear smooth and have no apparent openings.

Q1(C)

They found the termites build outer walls with both small pores and a series of slightly larger and interconnected pores.

Q1(D)

The difference in temperature between the inner nest and the outside world moves the air.

Q2

(E) T

(F) F

(G) F

(H) F

(I) T

Q3

Some Arab people live in big tents in the desert where the climate is very hot and dry. The tents protect them from the sun but allow air to pass through easily. (32 words)

III

I do not think that living in a dormitory is good for freshmen for three reasons. First, you do not have privacy. Being alone for a certain period of time is important for teenagers, but in a dormitory, it might be difficult to find time alone. Second, if you have an allergy to some food, it may not be easy to eat at a dormitory cafeteria. Living alone, you can prepare food suitable to your condition. Third, it would be difficult to study in a shared room. Some students find it effective to study after 10 pm, but doing this may bother their roommates. Thus, these disadvantages will discourage many freshmen from living in a dormitory. (116 words)